

Reliable Laxative Relieved This Baby

Child was Badly Constipated
Until Mother Tried Simple Remedy.

In spite of every care and attention to diet, children are very apt to become constipated, a condition responsible for many ailments in after life unless promptly relieved.

Mrs. C. W. Wilson, of Shelbyville, Tenn., had trouble with her baby boy, Woodrow, until she heard of Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin. She writes, "I can safely say Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin is the best remedy of its kind on earth. It acts so gently and yet so surely. Little Woodrow was very badly constipated and we could find nothing that gave relief until we tried your Syrup Pepsin, which gave immediate relief."

Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin is a compound of simple laxative herbs, free from opiates or narcotic drugs, mild in action, positive in effect and pleasant to the taste. It has been recommended by Dr. Caldwell for more than a quarter of a century and can now be had for fifty cents a bottle in any well-stocked drug store. A trial bottle of Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin can be obtained free of charge, by writing to Dr. W. B. Caldwell, 454 Washington St., Monticello, Illinois.

LAW, REQUIRING USE OF TURKISH LANGUAGE.

Does Not Affect American Protestant College in Syria.

Alexandria, Egypt, Nov. 26.—The enforcement of the new law requiring the use of the Turkish language as the principal teaching medium has been postponed so far as the American college in Syria is concerned. This was obtained by the president of the college, who made a personal appeal to the authorities at Constantinople. Turkish will be taught as a secondary language until the students become thoroughly grounded in it.

unusual sounds; when the cock crows all day long, the ducks threaten the ground with their wings, and the frogs croak incessantly; when the mist rises, the sun sets in a cloud, and your ears itch, there surely will be rain. RUMANIA THE PIVOTAL STATE.
Nations Has Resources in Men and Material Out of Proportion to Size.

(Special to The Bulletin.)
Washington, D. C., Nov. 26.—"Rumania, continually in the public eye as a possible factor in the world-war whose resources both in men and materials give this little nation a military importance out of proportion to its size and fame, is described in a bulletin issued by the National Geographic Society. The bulletin is the result of a study of the organization of Rumania reads as follows:

"The Rumanian lands—composed of the two principalities, Moldavia and Wallachia—first found freedom from the Turk in the treaty of Paris, signed in 1856. They were united in an empire almost from the start; and under the rule of their second Prince, Charles of Romania, a vigorous spirit of nationalism was instilled in all classes, and after the defeat of the Turks at Plevna by their soldiers the little principality was recognized as a kingdom. The present king is a nephew of Prince Charles, and he rules over a land of 53,489 square miles, or one slightly greater than England and Wales and only a little less than Massachusetts and New York combined. Within this territory, there were, according to the last census, 7,568,000 inhabitants, giving a density of population slightly greater than that of Maryland.

"The fields of Rumania are very fertile, and many of the farmers have quarreled over the division of its soil. Its system of land ownership is complicated, but, in general, it may be said that out of 33,000,000 acres of arable land the small farmers have a little more than one-third, while the large proprietors have 15,000,000 and the state 6,000,000. The lands owned by the state, known as Crown domains, and controlled by the government, exercise great influence as model establishments. In all departments, conservation of natural resources is taught by precept and example, and forestry, which was a hobby of the late king, found a quick response from the peasants, who affectionately called the oak their brother and the elm their cousin. Lumber, in various forms, ranks fourth in the list of Rumania's exports.

"Progress has been steady and rapid in Rumania, and one may find villages of peasant farmers that cannot be surpassed for comfort. It is essentially an agricultural state, and the rich soil produces a good return for the peasants' labor. It is said that there are estates which, although long under cultivation without a single manure, continue to yield twenty-five bushels of wheat while other tracts more scientifically handled, produce as much as thirty-six bushels to the acre. It is because of this fertility that the Danubian states rank with Russia, Argentina, and the United States as the chief wheat-growing countries on the globe.

"Crop failures occasion general distress, as 85 per cent of the population depend upon agriculture; and Rumania will continue to be subject to economic depression, and the country remains exclusively upon the wealth of her harvests. Indian corn is one of the staples of her peasants' tables.

"The Rumanian farmer is quite superstitious, and in his agricultural endeavor, makes use of a number of signs in which he believes. Thus, when the sparrows flutter about, chirruping, there are now about 10,000,000 cubic yards of material gradually to reach the United States. The letter accompanying the picture said that the picture printed herewith is the latest photograph of the big slide in the Culebra cut of the Panama canal.

feet. There are, also, vast oil fields in the land exporting a product amounting to a value of $4,000,000 a year. The annual grain export amounts to nearly $300,000,000. Rumania's natural trade route is the Danube, and this is supplemented by 2,333 miles of railroad, of which the government owns 1,100 miles. Elementary education is free and compulsory, and an illiterate peasantry is slowly being taught to read and write."

THE NEED OF RUSSIA IS MILITARY RIFLES.
Has Two Million Additional Men Ready as Soon as They Can Be Equipped.

London, Nov. 26.—(Correspondence of The Associated Press)—"Russia is now suffering only for want of rifles, and when she is properly supplied, at least two million additional soldiers would be thrown into the field with results which only next spring's campaign can tell. This is the opinion of a prominent American mining engineer, who has just returned to London after spending six months in the Russian empire, mainly in Siberia, where he is the chief engineer of an important group of mines. Describing conditions in Russia he said: "The depression which prevailed outside Russia during the great German drive through Poland, was never really duplicated in that country. Domestic troubles existed as always, but the people have made their power felt as never before, and the only thing that could cause revolution now would be the conclusion of an unfavorable peace with the central powers."

"The people of Russia are enjoying something in the nature of a boom, and the cost of living of the Russian peasant, who does not require luxuries, has not appreciably increased. The Russian peasant is not an imaginative individual, and the losses suffered in the great retreat were unbelievably small, when the magnitude of the fighting is taken into consideration. Even the generally admitted shortage of rifles, the wastage of which has been unprecedented, is not causing the Russians much concern, as the staff has realized that the rifle used by infantry is not an effective arm. The Russian army is now well supplied with heavy guns and munitions and the infantry is being supplied with thousands of machine guns. In attacking, the Russian infantryman almost invariably detaches the bayonet from his rifle and uses it as a knife when he leaps into the German trenches. He has even been known to discard both rifle and bayonet, relying on a club to win a trench.

"For the greater part of the war we have used Austrian prisoners as miners in our mines, but lately we have been receiving Germans from the government prisoners' labor bureau. These Germans in the main are absolutely unfit for hard labor, and were the greater part of a staff of officers, who are closely connected with the prisoners' bureau told me that for some time on the Dvinsk front the Russians have been capturing from one to two hundred women weekly. These were all in German uniform, and were apparently serving as soldiers."

"In Petrograd I entered the recently opened museum of atrocities, but the horrors displayed there were much for me, and feeling deadly ill I was compelled to leave the place without seeing the complete display, but I was allowed to bring to England an Austrian rifle cartridge loaded with an explosive bullet which is really a miniature shrapnel shell that explodes when a little plunger at the tip is driven in by contact with a human target."

"In the Scandinavian countries nothing was talked about except the food shortage in Germany, and some confirmation of this was given to me by a Dane, who represents in Berlin one of the biggest American packing companies. This Dane declared that the fat allowance had been reduced from eleven to seven ounces a person daily, and he stated that the German working population would have difficulty in getting through the winter on this reduced allowance. This Dane also told me that England was supplying its prisoners in Germany with food."

"In Copenhagen I learned that the International Harvester company had recalled all of its American employees from Germany, Austria-Hungary, Turkey and the Balkans and they are being held in the Danish capital awaiting orders."

"Shipping owners in the Scandinavian countries are making enormous fortunes out of the war and it is said that in Bergen alone this industry has created twenty-seven new millionaires since hostilities began."

Mayors of London used to be elected for life.
